

Developing Powerful Grant Proposals

This FREE 2-day workshop is offered to potential partners of the

Sacramento-San Joaquin Delta Conservancy

September 13 and 14, 2011

9am to 4pm

Clarksburg Community Church

52910 Netherlands Avenue, Clarksburg

With more organizations applying for foundation and government dollars, a well written proposal can make the difference between receiving funding or getting a rejection letter. Position your proposal for success when you learn from veteran grant writer Harvey Chess, about how to develop winning proposals for your organization.

This two-day interactive workshop offers participants the tools to:

- Assess their organizational readiness
- Position their organization appropriately for going after grants
- Build the practical skills to develop a winning proposal

The workshop will help beginners start in the proposal process and help veteran proposal writers pick up valuable tips and refine their skills.

You will learn:

- The components of a good proposal
- The vital connection between developing organizational strength and developing effective proposals
- The critical elements in persuasive proposals
- How to move from program planning into marketing proposals
- Strategies for approaching funding sources appropriately

To apply for the workshop, please complete the Developing Powerful Grant Proposals Application and email to Susan.Roberts@DeltaConservancy.ca.gov by August 20, 2011. Space is limited; apply early. If you have questions about the workshop or the application process, contact Susan Roberts, 916-375-2088.

This workshop is presented by the Delta Conservancy with assistance from the Nonprofit Resource Center.
